Whitepaper v1.1

Since the founders of this token are all poor, nothing in this paper should be taken as financial advice

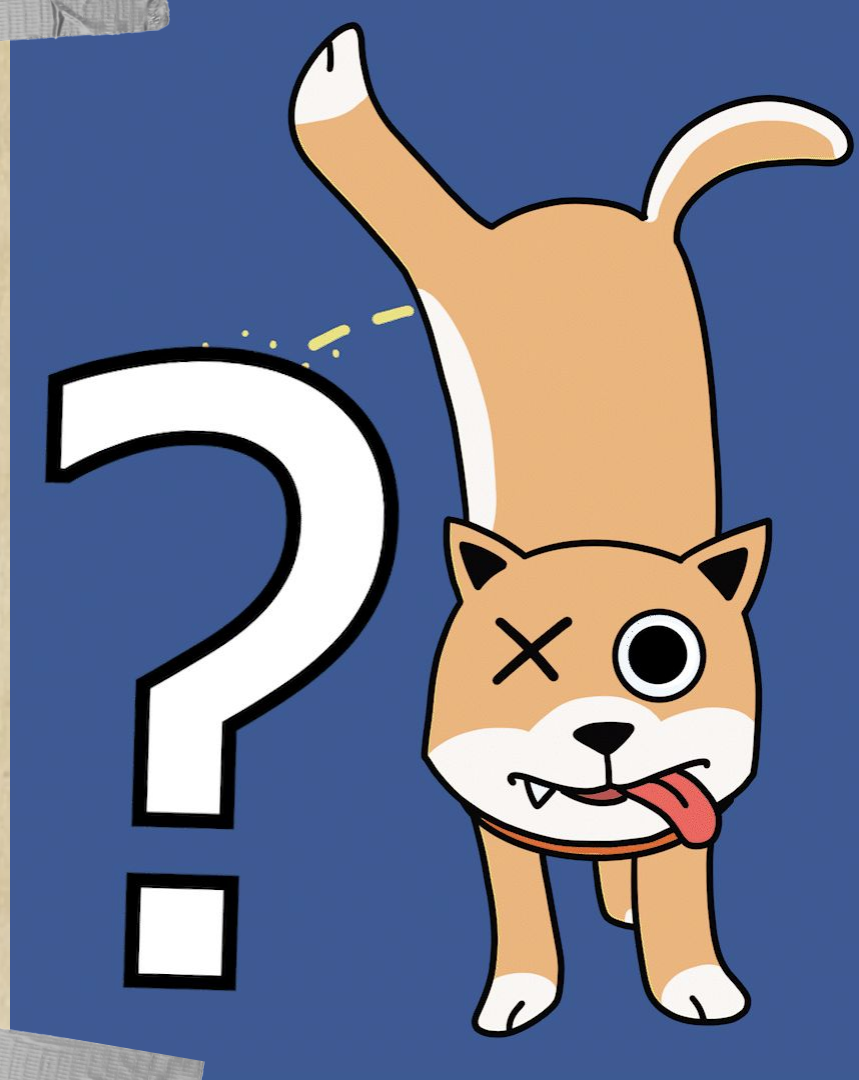
Project Philosophy

Join our journey to who knows where. $SUCKYINU another token in the dog coin family that you don't need.

$SUCKYINU is an insult dog offering ruthless commentary on what takes place in the cryptosphere. It's rumored that he's sent to earth by aliens in order to liberate humanity from shitty coins, but nobody knows for sure.

A Token of Expression

$SUCKYINU will be running polls on what Sucky Inu should comment on. For each poll, we'll poorly draw something. In the future we plan to make the expression NFTs available to the community.



This project is a social experiment in spontaneous community building and using crypto as a way to express opinions.

Community Owned

Aiming to become a fully decentralized and ownerless project, the community is the backbone of $SUCKYINU. The core members will be running polls and creating materials to start with, but we can’t do this alone. We rely on the community to be our sounding board, and contribute towards the creative process and direction of the project. We do encourage everyone's effort to contribute in any way they can. This way we will create a fully decentralized and community owned project.

Donations Wallet

$SUCKYINU is fully decentralized and runs on volunteers and donations from the community.

Use of donations contributed to our community will go to artists and platform and community development.
